MOROCCO THROUGH FILM

Watching films can add another dimension to your pre-trip discovery and provide more inspiration than is possible through reading or looking at pictures. Here are some films that will give you a feel of the mystery and wonder of Morocco.

MAROCK

DIRECTOR: LAÏLA MARRAKCHI (2006)

Hypocrisy, religion, arranged marriages, and Jewish–Arab relationships in the upper class of Casablanca are portrayed through a teen love story between Muslim Rita and Jewish Youri.

MARRAKECH EXPRESS

DIRECTOR: GABRIELE SALVATORES (1989)

Old high school gang reunites on a road trip through Morocco in order to save an old friend.

QUEEN OF THE DESERT

DIRECTOR: WERNER HERZOG (2015)

The life of British traveler, writer, archaeologist, explorer, cartographer, and political officer Gertrude Bell, who left her comfortable social life and moved to the Middle East.

THE SOURCE

DIRECTOR: RADU MIHAILEANU (2011)

The women of a remote village decide to go on a sex strike against having to fetch water from a remote source.
